OVERVIEW

The Wyoming Nurses Association (WNA) annual Nurses Day at the Legislature is eager to present this year's theme of Enlighten Your Practice with a focus on Moral Courage. Our landscape around us is continually changing, but one thing which we must maintain, grow and inspire, is our moral courage. Join us at this one-day event with exhibitors, networking and an evening legislative reception, as we explore the latest in nursing advocacy, issues around public health, several breakouts around topics you have requested as well as keynote speaker, Selina Hoflund, PhD, SPHR.

Nurses Day at the Legislature provides attendees a valuable opportunity to talk with legislators from their district about the issues important to nurses. Over 350 attendees from across Wyoming participate in this one-day event that include nurses, nurse practitioners, educators and student nurses.

Moral Courage

Selina Hoflund, PhD, SPHR | President, Ascension Business Solutions Corp

Healthcare professionals are often confronted with complex ethical dilemmas in their workplace. Some professionals confront the ethical issues head-on, while others tend to turn away. Moral courage helps individuals to address ethical issues and take action when doing the right thing is scary and risky. When nurses stand up and speak out about prescription or medical errors, about lapses in patient care, the need for additional regulation or legislation, they do this as part of their obligation as the patient advocate. When the actions go above and beyond the ordinary practice and become an act of moral courage that changes the whole landscape, it should be celebrated as a triumph in the human spirit.
